RAYLASE AG conquers China

After RAYLASE AG had established itself on the Japanese market through innovation and quality, the crew from Wessling near Munich has now set its sights on conquering China. RAYLASE AG opened up its entrance to the Chinese market through the Internet and contacts at trade fairs. The first orders have now been received from China and manifest the global significance of the company. China's growth market offers ideal opportunities for laser applications, particularly Nd:YAG and CO₂. Which is why RAYLASE AG is expecting a significant contribution to sales from deals in Asia in the business year 2004.
